

Urban Planning and Development Unit

at the Department of Architecture of Frederick University invites you to the seminar:

Planning and land policy for high-rise hybrid buildings

Speaker:

Fabian Thiel

Professor for Property Valuation at Frankfurt University of Applied Sciences

Date/ Time:

Thursday, March 28 2024,

14:00-15:30

Location:

Frederick University New Wing,

Seminar Room 2, 1st floor

Y. Frederickou 7, 1036, Pallouriotissa, Nicosia

The seminar is aimed at architects, urban planners, engineers, public, private sector and local government officials who deal with urban planning, real estate development and environmental impact assessment and related legislation.

This an open event. Attendance is free. Book here.

Fabian Thiel, studied Law at the University of Regensburg and Geography at the University of Hamburg, PhD 2001 at the University of Hamburg, Habilitation 2017 at Justus-Liebig-University Giessen on the topic of “Legal Geography”. Professional stations among others: Environmental Research Centre Leipzig-Halle and Integrated Expert for land management in Phnom Penh/Cambodia. Since 2018, he acts as Full Professor for Property Valuation at Frankfurt University of Applied Sciences. Professor Thiel researches and teaches national and international property law, real estate valuation, land readjustment, planning law, land policy, and legal geography. Recent projects: Land market transparency and “Recovery of Aleppo”.